The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the plane was the fresh air.
 It felt like I had been breathing stale air for hours. The sun was shining brightly, and the birds were chirping. I took a deep breath and smiled. I was finally home.

I had been away for so long, and it felt like I had never left. The house was exactly as I remembered it. The garden was in bloom, and the smell of the flowers was just what I needed. I walked through the front door and felt a sense of peace. I had made it.
 I had come home.

I looked at the clock on the wall. It was 10:30.
 I had been away for three days. I had missed so much. I had missed the sound of the waves, the smell of the salt air, and the sight of the sunset. I had missed everything. I had missed home.

I walked to the window and looked out. The ocean was so beautiful.
 The waves were crashing against the shore, and the sun was setting. I took a deep breath and smiled. I was finally home.

I have not as yet received from you the money which you promised to send me for the purchase of the book which I have mentioned to you in my letter of the 10th inst. I am very sorry that I have not been able to get it sooner, but I have just received it from the printer and I have now the pleasure to send it to you by the enclosed packet. I am very glad to hear that you are well and hope that you will continue to be so for many years to come. I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
