Oneida community rallies to support Mohawks

Seeks peaceful resolution to violation of Mohawk's human rights

In what is an attempt to alert the Oneida Community and the people of the United States, 70 people of the community came together at a rally Friday, August 10, in support of the Mohawk Indians in Canada.

The rally for peace and freedom of human rights was a plea for a peaceful resolution to the conflict between the Mohawk Indians and the Province of Quebec in Canada. The Canadian militia has barricaded the communities of Kanestake and Kahnawake since July 11th.

Oneida Tribal Chairman Rick Hill stated that no food, water and medical supplies have been allowed into the communities. Hill also stated there has been a black-out of the Canadian Press by the government of Quebec.

"Things that happen today indicate that things have not changed that much in 200 years," said Hill. "I urge people of all color to unit in support of a peaceful resolution."

Hill Skenandore

Hill informed the community that a "Mohawk Task Force" has been formed between members of the Oneida Business Committee and representatives from the Traditional People of the Oneidas. He also mentioned that a group of 10 individuals from the community left for Canada the first of August to act as non-violent observers and carry food, money and medical supplies to the Mohawks.

The tribal members on the scene have observed an increasing presence of white supremacy groups in the area, most notably the Klu Klux Klan. They have been circulating white supremacy literature through-out Montreal and other communities.

In an interview prior to the rally, Chairman Hill said the dispute is over the construction of a golf course and condominiums.

"The Mohawk's are attempting to prevent the expansion of a golf course and construction of the condo's on a piece of land which includes a burial ground," said Hill.

Hill concluded his statement saying the Mohawk Task Force will continue planning other rallies and events to call attention to these vital issues and seek support from governments and people of all color to seek a peaceful resolution to this violation of human rights of the indigenous peoples of this continent.

Artley Skenandore, faith-keeper of the Oneida Turtle Clan, added that the Indian rights have been violated.

The communities of Kanestake and Kahnawake (see map above) have been barricaded since July 11th. The Kahnawake community has been receiving supplies from a group of Oneida observers. The Kanestake community has no access to receive necessary supplies.

Oneida Public Safety Officer Phil Skenandore checks with the driver to see if she is OK after she struck a westbound vehicle on Highway 54 back on August 6th. Skenandore, who arrived to the scene of the accident first, reported no injuries.

Drug busts continue on reservation

An Oneida tribal member has been charged with delivery of cocaine in connection with an on-going investigation dating back to July of 1989.

Danforth

Rose Marie A. Powless, 31, was arrested the morning of August 6th with a warrant for her arrest for delivery of cocaine located at 277 King Lane.

Powless appeared in Outagamie County Court the same day and was released on a $1,000 signature bond. Her preliminary hearing is set for August 30th.

Powless's arrest follows the arrest of two other tribal members on July 30th. Mary Lou Danforth, 25, along with her husband, Darnell LaRock, 26, were arrested and charged with possession of marijuana with intent to deliver. The officers armed with a search warrant, found two ounces of marijuana in their home at 1203 Chief Hill Drive, Green Bay.

Oneida Public Safety Chief James Danforth, has been working very closely with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Brown County's Multi-Jurisdictional Group (MJG), and Outagamie County's Drug Enforcement Unit.

"This is an attempt to provide a drug-free reservation," stated Danforth.

Danforth state that even though the combined efforts of the officers and detectives has been successful, they still have a long way to go.

"One must realize that drugs is one of the hardest things to combat," said Danforth. "We haven't caught everyone on the drug scene but we are well aware of who these individuals are. If they wish to continue using or providing drugs, they will be prosecuted to the fullest extent."

Danforth explained the process of how the force is fighting the war against drugs. He said they first send in an undercover agent for a controlled buy. This buy then leads to a search warrant which is when the bust or arrest takes place.

The first bust in the investigation saw the arrest of David "Geronimo" Wade. Wade pleaded guilty to conspiracy to deliver cocaine and distributing cocaine to a person under age 21. Wade faces sentencing on October 17th in federal court for the offenses that occurred October 1, 1989, to February 13, 1990.

Charges are still pending against defendants Melissa Webster, 31, Green Bay; Jessie Franklin, 54, Park City, Ill.; and Roger Garrity, 47, formerly of 1720 Island Court, Howard. All three defendants face August 28 jury trials for delivery of cocaine.

The pleas of Franklin "Tonto" Nicholas, 26, for delivery of cocaine, and Edwina Jorgenson, 31, for delivery of marijuana, are not yet known.

"The Mohawk are being held hostage in their own community," said Skenandore.

Skenandore reported that the Mohawks have made the following requests of the Canadian government that have not been met: food, water and medical supplies; the right to consult with spiritual leaders, clan mothers, faith-keepers and tribal leaders; and the presence of international observers, (i.e. human rights organizations).

Skenandore began the rally with the cleansing of sage, which would enable everyone to remember why they gathered together.

"This sage will clear our minds and bring us together to unite for this cause and enable us to work together as peacekeepers," said Skenandore.

Sharon Metz, a member of HONOR (Honor Our Neighbors Origins and Rights), and political activist, attended the rally and pledged to encourage the religious community and

HONOR to stand with the Mohawk community. Metz express gratitude on being invited and said "I hope we do not miss this opportunity to express support and unity as brothers and sisters on this earth."

In a statement Metz read from HONOR, she said, "Condos aren't more important than human rights."

The Mohawk Task Force brought forth the attention of the issue and asked individuals to send letters of support to their congressional delegation. The Task Force also is asking other government leaders to contact Canadian Prime Minister Mulroney, and the Premier of Quebec, Burrasa. They have been the representatives of Canadian government communicating with the Mohawk leaders.

Commemoration of medicare and medicaid's anniversary called "bittersweet"

Washington, D.C. -- California Congressman Edward R. Roybal, Chairman of the House Select Committee on Aging, had announced a July 30th full committee hearing on the 25th anniversary date of the Medicare and Medicaid programs, signed into law on July 30, 1965.

The hearing's purpose was to examine the promise of Medicare and Medicaid when first enacted, the protection provided over the past 25 years, the gaps remaining with respect to Americans without health insurance and without long term care protection, and the next steps toward ensuring health and long term care protection for Americans of all ages.

Gail Wilensky, Administrator of the U.S. Health Care Financing Administration, and Burt Lancaster, noted movie actor and representative of the Screen Actors Guild, were among the hearing witnesses.

In calling the hearing, Chairman Roybal stated, "Twenty-five years ago, a Congress and an Administration took a bold, courageous and caring step toward protecting the health of Americans. Over these past 25 years, Medicare and Medicaid have provided much good and much comfort for many, many millions of Americans who are poor, have disabilities, or are elderly."

"However, this is a 'bittersweet' commemoration," Roybal cautioned. "Even with all the accomplishments, Medicare and Medicaid's 25 year history is replete with gaps, many of which remain to be filled even today. Today, we have more uninsured, about 37 million Americans, than just 10 years ago; the elderly are paying out over 18 percent of their incomes for health and long term care as compared to 15 percent when Medicare and Medicaid began; and over 200 million Americans lack long term care protection other than spending down to Medicaid."

"The future for Medicare and Medicaid and for the federal role in ensuring health and long term care protection for all Americans is the primary target of this hearing," Roybal said. "In a world which has increasing doubts over the United States' ability to step forward and show leadership on the great issues of the day, health and long term care protection is one case where this nation not only fails to lead but fails to keep up. Twenty five years would seem to have been enough time for this nation to take its rightful place of leadership; thirty years would seem to be too long."

Chairman Roybal released a new report on the 25 year history of the Medicare and Medicaid programs and on their future role in providing health and long term care protection for Americans of all ages.

HEALTH NEWS

Eating tips for people with high blood pressure

For many people, the fast pace of American life demands meals that keep up with that lifestyle. Fast-food restaurants often meet this need quickly and relatively inexpensively. However, the convenience of fast foods does not always mean good nutrition.

The fast foods served in these eateries are frequently high in calories, fat, and salt, all of which make it harder to control your weight and sodium intake. Since being overweight is known to increase your chances of developing high blood pressure, choose fast foods carefully to help control your high blood pressure.

But how do you know which foods are high in calories, fat, and sodium. And how do you decide where to eat? Many fast-food restaurants have published information about the calorie, fat, and sodium content of their menu items. Ask for one of these nutrient brochures at your local restaurant, or write to the headquarters of these restaurants. Calorie, fat, and sodium values can vary significantly from item to item and from one restaurant to another. To get you started, here are some general tips to keep in mind when eating at fast-food restaurants.

TO REDUCE YOUR CALORIE AND FAT INTAKE

- Fast-food breakfasts tend to be high in fat, calories, and cholesterol than are other breakfast meals. Choose cereal with low-fat milk, fruit or juice, plain toast, English muffin, fruit muffin, or bagel. Plain pancakes are much lower in fat and cholesterol than are breakfast sandwiches. Just remember not to add butter, and go light on the maple sugar.
- Virtually all fast-food breakfast sandwiches are high in fat. If you do order one of the sandwiches that also include meat, the best choice would be one made with Canadian bacon, the leanest of all breakfast meats. Sausage sandwiches are the highest in fat and calories.
- Choose broiled, baked, or grilled chicken or fish when possible. If fried is the only choice on the menu, remove the breading or skin.
- Eating deep-fried chicken or fish with batter or breading offers no reduced-calorie or reduced-fat advantage over red meat. In fact, a plain roast beef sandwich has half the fat of a fried breast of chicken or fried fish sandwich.

- Extra crispy fried chicken has more calories and fat than regular fried chicken.
- Mashed potatoes (even with a small amount of gravy) are much lower in fat and calories than are french fries. And onion rings have even more fat and calories than do french fries.
- Salad bars are a healthy option offered at many fast-food restaurants. When lining up at the salad bar, choose lettuce or another variety of greens, and stick with the plain fresh fruits and vegetables. To cut down on calories and fat, avoid mayonnaise-based items such as potato salad, macaroni salad, and pasta salad. Items such as bacon bits and cheese can quickly add calories and fat. Use salad dressing sparingly. A tablespoon of most salad dressings contains about 100 calories.

• Ask what kind of fat is used to fry foods at the restaurant. Avoid items that have been fried in beef fat, lard, coconut oil, or palm oil.

TO REDUCE YOUR SODIUM INTAKE

- Order sandwiches without the pickle. Use small amounts of ketchup and mustard. Cheese adds 200 to 400 mg of sodium per slice.
- French fries are not as high in sodium as most people think. They taste salty because all the salt is sprinkled on the outside of the fries. Ask the counter person to hold the salt, and you'll save yourself of couple hundred milligrams of sodium.
- Order pizza with vegetables such as mushrooms, green peppers, and onion. Skip the pepperoni, sausage, and ham.

Fast-food meals can be either laden with calories, fat, and salt or relatively low in calories and healthy. The next time you eat in a fast-food restaurant, remember you can eat wisely and healthy if you make the right choice!

An officer and a gentleman

Remember back when you were a kid and someone asked you "What do you want to be when you grow up?" Many of the children responded by saying, "A policeman." Many of the children were apt to change their answer as they grew up.

This goal was Fred Laitinen's dream, now a reality, but with one drawback.

Fred's drawback was the law enforcement restrictions he had to follow as an Oneida Public Safety Officer. He followed the rules and regulations of the Oneida Public Safety Office, but struggled within himself to stay within those guidelines. Fred finally decided it was time to move on.

Fred is currently serving with the Appleton Police Department.

"The Appleton Police Department basically has it all," said officer Laitinen. "They have more to offer."

Fred no longer has the power struggle that he had when he worked in Oneida. The men in blue with the police force in Appleton are respected.

"There was always a constant question of authority," said Laitinen, referring to his days in Oneida. "Our authority was questioned by officers from other departments and from the citizens. We weren't respected, not even by our own people. We are people who deserved some respect."

James Danforth, Chief of Oneida Public Safety, understands Fred's decision, "but the bottom line is with no arrest powers, we are limited."

"It takes a special person to deal with law enforcement the way we do (without arrest powers)," said Danforth. "The other officers weren't as aggressive as Fred and were able to adjust. But I feel good because Fred is bettering himself in his advancement."

Does Fred have any second thoughts or regrets with his decision?

"I do miss the comradery of my former officers," said Fred, "but I am very happy here in Appleton."

"My only regret is to having to lose a good officer," said Danforth. "You don't find many officers who have the ability to learn as quickly as Fred did."

Fred speaks very highly of his former officers and he sees no problem with some other officers following his footsteps.

"I was impressed by the majority of the officers," he said. "There is no doubt in my mind several of the officers could work anywhere and be successful."

According to Laitinen, the Oneida Public Safety Department needs to challenge the Brown and Outagamie County Sheriff's Department and Public Law 280. "There are more the officers can be doing," he said.

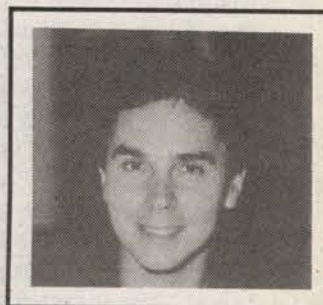

Public Law 280 states that Indian Reservations are under the State's criminal law jurisdiction. The only exception to this law in the State of Wisconsin is the Menominee Reservation.

"Duties and responsibilities of the Oneida Public Safety officers are to stop and detain individuals who are in violation of the law," said Chief Danforth.

Danforth stressed that once the officers are deputized, they will be able to enforce all state and county ordinances within the Oneida reservation.

If You Ask Me

"What do you think the next tribal chairman should accomplish in their next three year term?"

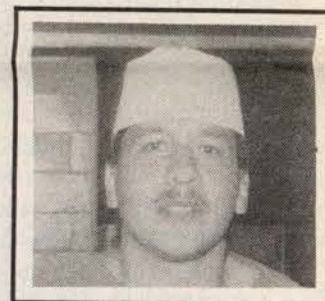

Kevin Cornelius:

"The sewer system project, per-capita issues and working on getting elected 3 years from now."

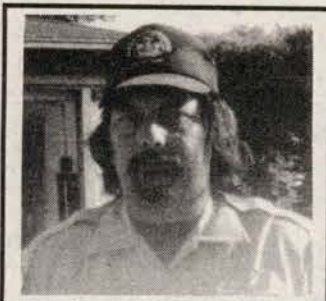

Louise King:

"I think he will have a more important role in responding to General Tribal Council requests and handling BC responsibilities."

Tim King: "The immediate problem will be dealing with the tribal debt. Things can be worked out if you accommodate the people."

Terry Metoxen:

"Land Claims settlement, sovereignty clarification and hiring more Indian employees."

This camp offers more than just basketball

When partaking in a basketball camp, one would tend to think the fundamentals of basketball are of the utmost importance. But in this camp, basketball comes second.

"Basketball skills are taught and learned, don't get me wrong," said Ernie (Steve) Stevens, Jr., director of the Warrior Basketball Camp held in Oneida, July 31 through August 3. "But if the kids forget how to dribble, shoot or pass a basketball, that's fine because they will learn it in practice. I want to teach the kids the positive aspects of life. Their is more to life than basketball."

Stevens proves his point with the camp motto, "Drug Free in Indian Country". With the help of various speakers, the message is touched upon over and over again until it becomes solidified with the kids.

On the final day of camp, Oneida Public Safety Officer Ed King spoke to the 32 camp participants. Officer King told the kids that they can make a difference in life.

"Just say no," said King, referring to drugs and alcohol. "You don't have to hang around with that crowd. Get up and walk away."

In relating the dream of being a professional athlete to reality, in this instance, a pro basketball player, King referred back to the Len Bias incident a few years back. As the kids listened intently, King told the kids how Bias' dream of turning pro came to life when he was drafted by the Boston Celtics. But with one wrong turn, that dream was turned into tragedy. Len Bias collapsed and died later that evening of a cocaine overdose.

"This incident could have been avoided," said King. "If he (Bias) would have walked away, he could still be playing professional basketball today."

Stevens reasons for stressing the positive aspects of life is related to his younger years.

"I grew up in a time when drinking and partying was cool," he said. "Fast cars, drugs and alcohol was acceptable."

Now Stevens feels the current generation needs to set a new example of what is cool.

"I don't want these kids to go through what I went through," said Stevens. "These kids need to believe in the positive values about life."

In an interview following the camp, Stevens pointed out a magazine cover he had posted. The cover displayed Julius "Dr.

J" Erving in a suit and tie. "Now there is an idol the kids can look up to," said Stevens ecstaticly. "He proved that there is life after basketball. With his education, he is now living another life."

Stevens is a strong believer in education. He stated that we need to prioritize higher education as a first. "Our number one priority is to get these kids to college and get a degree," said Stevens.

Stevens mentioned that 25% of the camp is spent on things other than basketball. But after the speeches and discussion is done, it is time for some serious basketball.

The kids work in stations learning the fundamentals: shooting, dribbling, passing, rebounding and team skills. The main areas that are stressed are team play, defense and shooting. All of these fundamentals are formulated at the end of the day when the kids participate in a scrimmage.

Stevens believes in rewarding the kids for their efforts. Awards are handed out to the kids for various achievements. This years Camp M.V.P. awards went to Nathan King and Brandon Stevens in the boys senior bracket, and Renessa Bluebird and Fawn Billie in the girls senior bracket. The junior bracket M.V.P. awards went to Phillip King and Ernie Stevens III for the boys, and Connie Danforth for the girls.

Recognized as the Most Improved camp participants were Dustin Christjohn and Sara King.

Standing out for their all-out hustle was Darrell Danforth and Taco Danforth in the boy's senior bracket, and Melissa Mousseau in the girl's senior bracket. The junior hustle achievers were Zowi Rice and Damon Skenandore for the boys and Alicia Danforth for the girls.

Recognized for their sportsmanship were Brion Elm, Ravon Elm, Jake Doxtator, Reva Danforth, Laura Danforth, Lem Danforth, Marlin Mousseau, Paula King, Tony Merrell, Levi King, Tony Cook, Oakley Arnold and Marques Danforth.

On a personal note, Stevens would like to thank Pete King, Assistant Camp Director; Instructors Cheryl Stevens, Carla Doxtator and Tim Ninham; and High School Assistants Matt Ninham and Joe Skenandore. A special thanks goes out to speakers Sonny King, Artley Skenandore, Jr. and Ed King, Jr.

Oneida Braves...they ain't what they used to be

After a crowd roaring divisional game playoff Sunday, August 12, 1990, the Oneida Braves came off the field defeated 13-9 but not defeated in maintaining determination.

Paul Danforth, manager of the Braves, said it was a fight to the finish. In the middle of the game, with the bases loaded, an unfortunate pitch by Dennis King dictated four runs for the opposing Kewaunee team setting an unstable direction for the Braves. Oneida held strong rallies with Kewaunee but failed to come out ahead.

With the victory, Kewaunee advanced to the Northern vs. Southern Division Championship Game in the Shoreline Baseball League, which was played on Wednesday, August 15th.

Displaying an impressive win-loss record this season, 11-6 for '90 compared to '89's 5-12 record, Oneida came out much improved this year.

"We're a young team," coach Danforth stated. He also said he knew his team was at or near the top of the Shoreline's League for home runs and runs scored.

The Oneida's Braves team consists of 16 players and 2 coaches: Kerry (Bugs) Danforth, Irwin Danforth, Stephan Danforth, Keith Danforth, Shane John, Fran John, Dennis King, Butch Summers, Wenzel Bain, Ed King Jr., Steve Stevens, Wayne Metoxen, Steve Metoxen, Terry Pamenet, and Pete Denny. Paul Danforth and Cliff Danforth are coaches/players.

The feeling of support ran high this season, thanks to crowd support. "I'd like to personally thank all the fans (bleacherbums) who came out and supported us," Danforth commented. "It really made a difference."

"I'd also like to thank the Recreation Department for sponsoring us this season and especially I want to thank all my players for all their effort, time, and patience with me."

(Unfortunately, due to unavailability of player stats, accurate player information is unable to be published at this time.)

Carole Liggins (above) postmaster for Oneida, WI, is interim Officer in Charge for the Menominee Post Office in Menominee, Michigan.

Liggins anticipates working through mid-September at this post. The city of Menominee is currently in process hiring a postmaster. Her duties include supervising up to 20 people as well as carrying out normal postmaster duties.

Travelling 130 miles, Carole commutes from Oneida to Menominee daily.

Just goin' fi$hin

When Nancy Senkbeil woke up Tuesday morning, she felt it was just another normal day. She planned on taking it easy and going fishing that morning with a friend.

A turn of events and a persistent bingo buddy convinced her to do otherwise. Loaded with a brown bag containing 2 dobbers and bingo chips, Senkbeil and company set off for Oneida Bingo.

Still lingering on the decision on whether to go fishing or to play bingo, Nancy unsteadily continued to play. At about 1:30-p.m., Nancy yelled "bingo!" in response to JUMBONEIDA, the tribe's newly formed 100,000 blackout game.

When asked what she would do with her winnings, Nancy replied, "I have no idea. I never dreamed of winning this much."

Not to be confused with how much, Nancy puts a whole different meaning to the phrase "this much".

Earlier this year on June 10, 1990, Senkbeil won $21,000 on the Outline Diamond game on the TV BINGO Oneida broadcast.

An even tempered Nancy Senkbeil of Sheboygan calmly poses after winning the JumbOneida jackpot worth $100,000 on the August 7th day session at Oneida Bingo.

When asked about her unbelievable stream of good luck she came upon, her only comment was, "I'm glad he's (God) on my side."

Nancy said she paid some bills and bought her friend a badly needed car from the TV Bingo winnings.

Senkbeil will receive $50,000 as an initial payment. On the same date next year, Nancy will receive the remaining $50,000 payment.

Senkbeil said now, instead of going fishing, she can buy all the fish she wants.

Landmark Governmental Change To Improve Due Process

A landmark action by the Oneida Business Committee took place back on May 2, 1990 by a unanimous vote which will implement an Administrative Poecedure Act and an Appeals Commission. The Act is to be implemented by October 1, 1990. The Commission, which shall be the judicial arm of the Oneida Tribe provides for three (3) initial appointive members and eight (8) members to be elected by the Oneida General Tribal Council.

The Oneida Business Committee has been working on implementing the "Act" and the Commission for the past five and one-half (5 1/2) years. The authority of the Oneida Business Committee to delegate responsibilities that are embodied in this legislation are pursuant to Amendment VII of the Oneida Constitution. The Appeals Commission and its procedures do not contain all the multi-jurisdictional elements of a tribal court that was voted "down" by the General Tribal Council a number of years ago.

The following expresses the need and advantage of providing for both the Act and the Commission:

1. Sovereignty and self-government of the tribe would be enhanced and protected because the tribe would maintain its own internal procedures.
2. The adoption of the Administrative Procedure Act will enhance a governmental separation of powers between the legislative, executive and judicial responsibilities and promote independence between these branches of government.
3. An Act will diminish political pressure upon the Oneida Business Committee by removing it from initial judicial decisions.
4. The Act will provide for consistant procedures of law/rule making that would allow the community to be on notice as to how laws/rules are brought forward and passed upon by the Business Committee.
5. Due process will be afforded consistently throughout tribal bodies and entities.
6. The Indian Civil Rights Act of 1968, 25 USC Section 1301-1303 supports the policy that all Indian tribes exercising powers of self-government shall insure that individual rights are protected and that people have a right to "petition for redress of grievances".
7. Recent federal and state regulations are requiring that in order for tribes to receive funding, loans or grants, they must have an internal governmental structure that provides fairness and notice.
8. An Appeals Commission will maintain the integrity of an Oneida traditional system of decision making by insuring that there is more than one decisionmaker for any issue.

The passage of the Administrative Procedure Act and the Appeals Commission will aid in the stability and self-governing direction of the Oneida Tribe.

GOOD NEWS

Powless to be ordained as Deacon

Not since the last hereditary chief of the Oneida's has there been an Oneida Episcopalian, who was born and raised in Holy Apostles' Congregation, and ordained to the Sacred Ministry

This historic event will be repeated with the ordination of Edmund C. Powless on Saturday, August 25, 1990 at 10:30 a.m. at the Holy Apostles Church.

Powless will serve his people in this Congregation, as did Hill, who was ordained Deacon in 1895 and a Priest in 1903.

With the Rt. Rev'd William L. Stevens, Bishop of Fond du Lac, presiding, Edmund will be ordained as a Permanent Deacon in the Episcopal Church. Edmund will begin his new ministry by responding to the call of God our Creator to be one who serves his people as a Deacon in the Church.

Powless, 67, joins Father Hill, and at least two other Oneida Episcopal Priests, Father Edmund Webster and Father Michael Griffith, who have ties to Oneida. However, neither Hill or Griffith was raised their whole life in the Congregation nor have they served any of their ordained ministry at Holy Apostles, as did Father Hill and will Powless. There have been other Wisconsin Oneida people ordained as ministers in other Christian denominations, but, too, none have served their people in Oneida.

Powless will be joined in the celebration of his ordination, by Wardens, Vestry and Vicar of Holy Apostles Episcopal Church. The public is encouraged to come and rejoice with Edmund and his family.

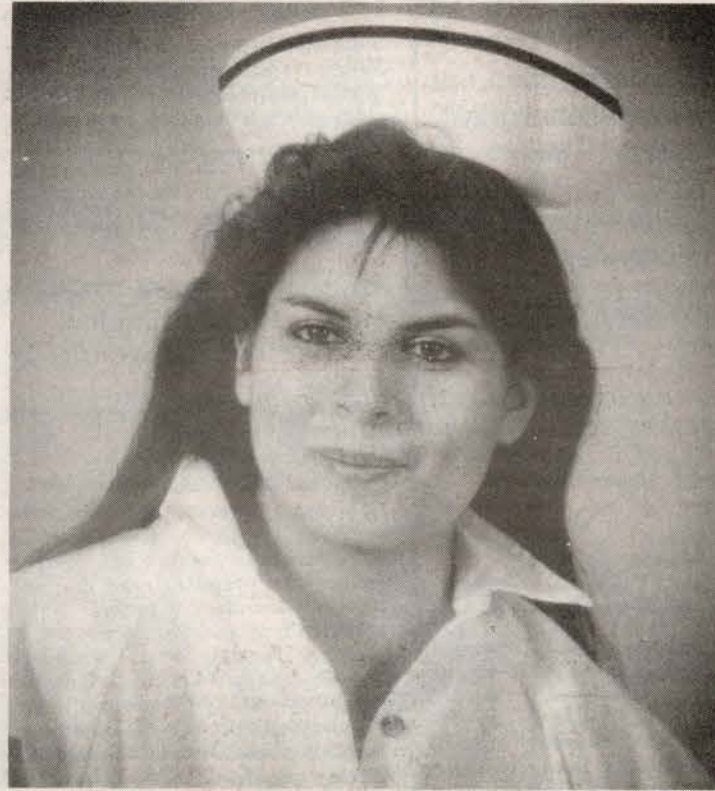

The ordination will be followed by a reception, which is also open to the community.

Edmund, along with his wife Blanche, reside at 2584 Indian Hill Drive, Green Bay.

MEMORIAM

My Indian Brother

*I know it is hard when a loved one has gone, and the pain seems like too much to bear;
If it's any support to the family at all,
your love for him also I share.
The loneliness is hard when a loved one is gone,
but really, he isn't apart;
For he is still there looking over us all,
and our love for him's deep in our heart.
My brother,
I'll miss you;
you were such a great friend,
while you walked through this life here with me.
But this isn't the end,
it is only the beginning;
for in the Spirit world,
I know you will be
My day will come too, when I also must leave...
Nor shall I fear such a day;
For this world is a road that we all have to take,
...And life's beginning is our passing away.
I love you Jerry!
In memory of my dear friend and brother... Jerry Delgado*
